Project Description

Wholistic planning - from urbanism to architecture, to the carefully designed details

We work on urbanistic master plans, as well as buildings and cultural projects. Our range of responsibility covers all aspects of architectural design and urbanism.

Our experience has shown, that a wholistic design process that encompasses preliminary studies, schematic design, design development and detail planning leads to successful buildings. Sustainable design with respect for the environment and ecological issues is a high matter of importance for us.

Every project of our office is unique. Site specific solutions tailored to the individual requirements of each situation is the rewarding result. Our experience and precision creates optimal results at minimum costs.
